

#RestaurantsWork

“I developed my love for the hospitality industry while working at The New Orleans House Restaurants, in Lexington, KY. I began as a dish washer and worked my way up to kitchen manager before graduating high school. I opened my first restaurant right after college and have been expanding ever since. At Jazz, giving back is a top priority. We’ve donated nearly half a million dollars to the people of Kansas City that need it most. We’re making sure we serve our customers and our community each and every day.”
